party, is given the control of the Government, it is an endorsement of those principles of constitutional liberty for which they fought, and which they still maintain. If those principles are correct, the War was right; its results are "unconstitutional and void; the battle fought by the armies of the Union were but criminal murder: Union soldiers were criminals."

That the South entertains this view is shown by the fact that Union soldiers stand indicted to-day in the Federal Courts for acts done in the course of their duty in the War. It is said that Sherman is indicted for his raids in the Shenandoah Valley. This is legal and legitimate.

Here is a lesson. Those Higginbotham, of Letart, Meigs County, a Union soldier in West Virginia, under command of Gen. Custer, during 1863 a notorious bushwhacker was scouring the country along the Kanawha, robbing and murdering people in cold blood. Higginbotham was a familiar name to all, and knew of the villainy of the rebels. General Custer detailed a party to arrest the scoundrel, and General Custer acted as guide. The man was arrested, and was being taken to Headquarters, broke guard.

In 1872 the Grand Jury of the Mason Circuit Court found an indictment against Higginbotham for murder in the first degree, and the Governor of West Virginia, and a request to the Governor of Ohio for the same.

Higginbotham was so arrested, but, as he had been intervened, and, on technical ground, he was not tried.

He was then taken to West Virginia, having been a Union soldier.

He was then executed for having been a traitor during the Rebellion.

When the Southern Confederacy, with the Northern allies, obtained the National power, do they not know that those who participated in the act of "subjugation" will be tried?

If we may judge the future by the past, if the party of the aid of a "Solid South" that party will be, as was before, and during the party of the South.

The present House of Representatives is Democratic. There are 33 important stand-patters, such as existed before the War. These men are, and are responsible for the legislation of the House.

The position of the Chairman of the Committee on Reconstruction is a most important position. Of these Chairmen, there is one section.

The Union more obnoxious to the South than another. New England. Therefore New England has no right to be chairman of several of the Southern States.

The record of this House has three parts.

It is the record of this session, as during this session is a record of a House which evinced the deliberate intention of bankrupting the Government.

listened to Ben Hill's speech with complete silence.

As the party of the "Solid South," the Democrats will be bound to carry out the principles and policy of the "Lost Cause," a cause which as yet is with its adherents advocates. Such a triumph as this is a record of the decrees of the War, by the success of the party which has always consistently opposed it.

FAIRS.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

WISCONSIN. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 14.—Our city to-day looks something like Chicago from the air and crowds on the streets. The weather in the early part of the forenoon looked promising, as a change of wind indicated a better time coming.

After a while, however, the usual change, overcast sky resumed its sway, and it is at present anything but assuring of fine weather in the immediate future. During the whole of yesterday it rained heavily, hence all hope of a dry start, suitable for driving during this week was abandoned. The fair is to be continued until Tuesday night of next week. S. S. Merrill, General Manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, has given orders that all tickets will be good up to and for a return from that day. Telegrams have been sent everywhere announcing the continuance of the fair. It is expected that, should the weather prove really fine, a large attendance will yet be present. The races are booked forward, and a good deal of interest and general favor are yet expected to visit the grounds and count the prizes.

It is a popularly reliable account of him who cannot grow a reasonable account of himself in locked up. Several pick-pockets and sneak-thieves have already been disposed of.

CEDAR RAPIDS. Special Dispatch to The Tribune. CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Sept. 14.—The fine weather of to-day has completely changed the condition of things at the fair. The trains arriving this forenoon from all directions were heavily laden, and it is estimated that this afternoon 10,000 people were on the grounds. The managers are full of hope now, and have decided not to close the exhibition till Saturday afternoon. Over 300 horses were exhibited to-day competing for prizes.

The police arrangements for the protection of visitors are as near perfect as can be.

There are really suspicious-looking persons who cannot grow a reasonable account of him who cannot grow a reasonable account of himself in locked up. Several pick-pockets and sneak-thieves have already been disposed of.

THE GRAND TOTAL. The score for the 1000 yards range, and the concluding trial of the tournament, was as follows:

AT SIOUX CITY. Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

STOKE CITY, Ia., Sept. 14.—A fire which broke out about 9 o'clock this morning in Holmes & Ogden's grocery-store, on Pearl street, communicated to buildings on each side of it, and before the flames were subdued, six buildings, together with their contents, were totally destroyed, involving a loss of nearly $30,000, on which there was only a few dollars, to the principal losers, $3,000, no insurance.

AT CANTON, MD. Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 14.—Meritt, Jones & Co.'s works, at Canton, burned this afternoon. Robert J. McCadden, refiner, and Roger Shiel, were burned to death and others were injured. Estimated loss on $15,000; on building.

THE TURF. Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 14.—The Kentucky Association races were well attended to-day.

The first race, a sweepstakes for three-year-olds, $50 each, $35 for field, $500 added, one and three-fourths miles, the second horse to receive home-to-home, gave the Scotch team a late place, instead of the Australian team, who

Sam Tilden's Record.

The Sixth Edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S CAMPAIGN TILDEN RECORD has been exhausted, a Seventh Edition has been printed and dispatched to Wisconsin, and the Eighth Edition of this most effective of all campaign documents is now ready. Orders should be sent at once.

Greenbacks at the New York Gold Exchange yesterday closed at 90.

Gen. SHERIDAN has gone to Fort Laramie to meet Gen. Crook, with whom he will arrange for an active campaign against the Indians during the coming winter.

The cable combination are likely to enjoy their monopoly for some years to come. The French scheme for a new line between New York and Paris has fallen through, from the lack of the necessary stock subscriptions.

Returns from 444 towns in Maine give a total vote of 133,504, of which CONNEX received 74,601 and TILDEN 58,903—Republican majority, 15,698. There are 19 towns and 35 plantations yet to hear from. On the Legislative ticket the Republicans have elected 121 Representatives, with the hope of winning two additional, and 29 Senators.

The Fourth District Greenbackers met in convention in Elgin yesterday, and nominated the Rev. W. S. BALZER, D. D., as their candidate for Congress. The reverend gentleman, recognizing that his treasures are stored in the "house not made with hands," declined the honor, and the rag-dealers are now on the anxious seat looking for an Greenbackers.

The Asburyan treaty with England was recently allowed to lapse by the tacit consent of the high contracting parties, growing out of the refusal of the British Government to surrender WINSLAW, the Boston forger, unless the United States would guarantee that he should only be placed on trial for the crime of which he was charged in the demand for extradition. England insisted on this condition, so as to carry out her local legislative enactments, oblivious of the rule of equity that no party to a contract can modify it without the consent of the others interested. It would now seem that the British Government, influenced by suggestions from the neighboring Dominion, is anxious to re-enter into an alliance offensive and defensive against all social pests, and for that purpose has opened negotiations at Washington for a new treaty, which will be chiefly devoted to the extradition question, and if entered upon, will afford greater facilities for the capture and exchange of fugitives from justice than the one which a few months ago was quietly interred beneath the accumulated dust of the two State Departments.

Great interest is excited in Catholic Europe at the proposed elevation of PETER JOHN BEXX, General of the Jesuits, to a Cardinalate. The dispatches announce that this promotion is made at the express desire of the recipient of the beretta will be the future candidate of the Ultramontane party for the Papacy. This can hardly be, as Gen. BEXX is almost as advanced in years as the present Head of the Church. He was born in Sichen, Belgium, in 1795, and became a member of the Society of Jesus in 1810. He was appointed Procurator for Austria in 1847. The expulsion of the Jesuits from that country in the following year drove him to Belgium, where he remained until the Order was re-established in the dominions of FRANCIS JOSEPH, when he returned, and labored successfully in the extension of the cause in Hungary. In 1853 he was elected Superior of the Order. He is possessed of great diplomatic ability, and on several occasions was employed on very delicate missions. The elevation of Gen. BEXX would seem to indicate that Pio Nono is determined that his successor shall belong to the Ultramontane wing of the Sacred College.

It is related of Gen. SHERIDAN that when once asked to give his opinion of Texas, he replied that, if he were obliged to make a choice between hell and Texas, he would prefer hell. We reprint this morning several letters published in the San Antonio Republic, giving the details of atrocities perpetrated by Tildenites on the negroes and white Republicans, which only have their parallel in the sickening outrages inflicted on the Bulgarians by the Basho-Basho. Over twenty negroes were shot down ruthlessly in the vicinity of Eagle Lake, Colorado County, while peacefully steady, at 64½¢. Barley closed dull, at 78½¢ for September and 77½¢ for October. Hogs were active and stronger, closing firm at $5.60@5.25. Cattle were fairly active, but prices were weak and irregularly lower. Sales were reported at $2.00@2.35. Sheep were quiet and unchanged. One hundred dollars, in gold would buy $109.37 in greenbacks at the close.

The Board of Trade Committee on War-horses have notified the dealers in grain and the general public that the elevator of NELLY & HAMILTON does not contain any No. 2 spring wheat in good merchantable condition. Per contra, the elevator proprietors do not consider that the wheat referred to is seriously damaged or likely to become so, and that, with the careful handling which it is now receiving, it will soon equal in quality any of the same grade in the city, and be superior to most it.

REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.

It is generally conceded that there is an improvement in trade. We do not mean that improvement which is shown by an increased production and an addition to the stock of everything offered for sale. Of that improvement there has been an abundance, a continuity of production over demand. This has been the rule ever since the prosperity. Notwithstanding the great depression in all things, and the shrinkage in prices, production has continued in excess of demand. No matter how many mills closed, or how short the time of working, the stock on hand has been greater than the demand for consumption. The result has been a decline of prices, and sales at a loss.

Within the last few weeks—extending back perhaps a month—there has been an improvement, small but healthful; the improvement has been a demand for goods to some extent as to indicate that in some branches of trade there has been a revival of consumption, thereby creating an increased demand for goods. Small as this improvement has been, it has been accepted as encouraging, because it has been accepted as evidence that the bottom has been reached in consumption; that the amount of a given article bought for use has sunk as low as it will go, and that it has actually not only reached the minimum, but has begun to grow upward again. The New York Bulletin enumerates the instances where this improvement has been shown. It has extended to the cotton-goods trade. In bleached goods, printing-cloths, and in prints, a decided advance in prices has been justified by the increased demand. Though our facilities for turning out the coarser or cheaper grades of woolen cloths far exceed the amount produced, and the supply has been for a long time in excess of the demand, still there is a recovery, which is further strengthened by an advance in the price of wool. More wool is purchased at an enlarged price, which is to be taken as indicating an improved market for the manufactured articles. Silks have advanced 15 to 20 per cent, not because of any increased demand, but because of an advance in the price of the imported raw material. The Bulletin, after reviewing the general outlook of the markets, says:

Putting together all these facts, with the further fact that in a wide range of other articles in which no rise has been made, there is a recovery, there may be required to account for the continued existence of a very satisfactory symptom of the condition of business. They indicate that, after three years during which consumption has fallen behind supply, the demand is getting an important ascendancy. It is this very condition of things which we have so long been awaiting, as the turning point of the depression, and now that it has come, we reasonably expect a steady continuation of trade to its usual activity. There is nothing that he should be punished as the other distillers were punished.

This is the ground upon which the pardons were asked,—that the men were tricked into pleading guilty on a promise of nominal and uniform punishment, which promise was wholly disregarded by the Government counsel.

This interposition by the Attorney-General, if true, is only in the cases of the distillers, and does not apply to the case of REX. That person is of a different class, he is serving out a sentence where the imprisonment was put at the lowest term by special agreement.

MR. TILDEN'S DEFENSE.

If Mr. TILDEN has made or contemplated making the statement accredited to him concerning his income returns, and this is all he has to say on the subject, he might better have adhered to the silent contempt with which he has treated the discussion for several weeks. The reported defense is that in 1861 he advanced several hundred thousand dollars to his brothers, who were manufacturing chemists, and that he should be punished for instilling a buoyant feeling in business as an upward movement of prices. Merchants see the value of their stocks appreciating, they have fewer losses from a depreciation of goods, and are more inclined to buy. The effect of the starting up of the Sprague's Mills, the restoration of work by the factories suspended during the spring at North Adams, and the renewal of operations down low prices.

The improvement in prices in home productions will naturally lead to an improvement in the foreign trade. Our imports were never so low comparatively as this year, and this falling off seriously threatens our revenue. For three years the value of the dutiable imports has declined, causing a reduction in the revenue. The reduction this year promises to be greater than even last year, and the deficiency may be a serious one. This is partly due to the general depression of trade and the falling off in consumption, but it is also due to the excessive tariff, which is now in many lines of goods is prohibitory. In all lines of imports where the duties are specific, and the value of the goods has fallen 25 to 50 per cent, the rate of duty has correspondingly advanced, and in many cases defeats importation and revenue.

The increase of foreign trade should also assist in improving the export trade, and that export trade ought to include a proportion of manufactures not hitherto maintained under the blighting system of protection. Never was there a better or more desirable opportunity to improve our whole trade, foreign and domestic; discarding the delusive and fraudulent scheme of protection; manufacturing all our products in the largest quantities, to be sold to whomsoever will buy them; and inviting the largest exchange of commodities wherever it is cheaper to buy than to make, and where it is more profitable to exchange than to attempt to compete.

Chicago being in the centre of a region whose products are the food of mankind, of which there can be no failure of a market, and where the cash is paid over to the producer in exchange for his goods, the general prostration has not been as great as elsewhere. The consumption of the ordinary wants of domestic economy, though largely diminished, has not declined to the same extent as elsewhere. The Northwest has been full of money during the whole period since the panic. The slight improvement which has been noticed elsewhere in the country has been felt decidedly here. It has increased the number of workmen employed in several branches of manufactures, has been felt in the general retail trade, and has even caused some activity and preparations for at least a partial revival of the real-estate market. The building in the city during the year has been extensive, causing a demand for materials and labor, and adding by the distribution of wages to the deposits in the savings banks. Money is in abundance, and while the spirit of distrust and caution still rules, there is clearly more confidence and faith now than there have been for more than two years.

Perhaps of all the TILDEN party organs in the country the most abject and servile is the morning edition of the late Evening Telegraph. There is no pretense of examining issues on their merits, and lies are as glib as the tongue of a tercian. TILDEN is altogether lovely and HAZEL irredeemably wicked. The TILDEN party, tied up to the ancient heresy of State Sovereignty and bowed down by the Confederates of the South, can do no wrong, while the Republican party, and everything it has done, and whatever it proposes to do, and everybody connected with it, are regarded as terribly and shockingly infamous. There is an iteration of the old partisan oath that black is white and white black. Whether it all comes from old-time devotion to the dialysis. Democracy, or from an actual consideration that has been passed over, or from a forlorn hope of future reward, certain it is that the Chicago Times has utterly discarded every pretense of "independence" which it vaunted for a few years to gain some Republican readers (Democrats not being a reading people as a rule), and it now stands out conspicuously as the most willing, docile, and tractable Confederate newspaper published at the North in the interest of TILDEN. It is entitled to the credit of this distinction.

THE WHISKY CASES.

The statement comes from Washington that Attorney-General TILDEN has concluded to advise the President to pardon the men now in the County Jail for complicity in the whisky frauds. These men pleaded guilty, as they have testified on oath, on the assurance from the Government that, if they did plead guilty, they should have the least punishment, and should all be punished equally. They were, however, sentenced variously from three months to two years. They have all made affidavits to this effect. H. B. MILLER, in his affidavit, says that a committee of the second batch was appointed to visit, and did visit, the office of Mr. BAXON, and Mr. AXEN, and Mr. BOUTTELL, the Government attorneys; that after a general consultation it was agreed that all but TILDEN and RUSSELL should plead guilty to two counts and withdraw their opposition to the trial. They were still, as it were, with impatience, to meet their accusers face to face. It will be remembered that so red-hot have they grown in this desire to face their accusers that, at a recent Republican meeting in Hamburg, where GOV. CHAMBERLAIN was the chief speaker, BURKE and his gang, well armed, appeared and demanded speedy trial, we believe, to make him himself to make an about face and withdraw his share of the common taxation.

BOB INGERSOLL AT THE EAST.

Probably there is no man in the country who is doing more efficient work for the election of HAZEL and WHEELER than Col. ROBERT G. INGERSOLL, the Illinois orator. His presence in the East has been almost magnetic. He has infused spirit into the campaign wherever he has gone.

He is a man of great personal interest, the lack of which is a marked feature of his oratory. He is a man who has a clear, ringing voice, and a commanding presence. He is a man who can move an audience.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Demand for Bank Favors Improving Gradually.

Slower Movement of Currency to the Country—Clearings $3,100,000.

The Produce Markets Irregular—Provisions Easier.

Wheat and Oats Lower—Corn Steadier—The Wheat in "Soddy" Declared Out of Condition.

FINANCIAL.

The transactions of the day were nothing more than moderate. The banks and the discount houses were generally lower, and indications that business is not yet very active, although the customers of our national institutions agree in the report that there is a visible improvement in the trade this season. The country is still in need of advance from the city, and as there is a abundance of funds a considerable quantity of paper is required here. The Board of Trade is carried as restricted.

Rates of discount are a shade firmer. To regular customers accommodation is given at 8.910 per cent. Gold paper on short time is taken at 8.6 per cent and upward. Call loans would be quoted at 8.6 per cent and upward, and such instruments as to make a market rate.

On the street business in paper is light, and capital is seeking an outlet in stock operations. Rates are about the same as those quoted above.

The movement of currency to the country is slower. The condition of the market is such that advance and decline can be readily moved, and rates for carriers are decreasing.

New York exchange was sold yesterday at 80c per $1,000 discount.

The clearing was $3,100,000.

LOCAL STOCK AND BOND QUOTATIONS.

There is a noticeable increase of local business in local and other stocks, and many instances of large and more numerous at the brokers' offices and on the Stock Exchange. Capital that cannot find its customary employment in buying paper is going into securities, and these are also helped by the growing recovery of confidence which is now seen in all directions.

THE CITY.

GENERAL NEWS.

Mr. William F. Cody, alias Buffalo Bill, arrived at the Tremont House, from the Yellow-stone country, en route to Rochester, N. Y.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Mr. McNamee, at 85 Madison street (Tranque Building), was at 8 a.m., 62 degrees; 10 a.m., 62; 12 m., 63; 3 p.m., 63; 8 p.m., 64. Barometer, 30.00.

The second Gospel training-meeting for Moody and Sankey's inquiry meetings was held last night in Lower Farwell Hall. There was a large attendance, and the response of the audience to the meetings, more intense than at the first meeting.

Upon a drunken man who was towed into the Central Station last evening was found a pawn-ticket for a valuable gold watch. However, movement, and as it was a pawn-ticket, no one of the pawnmen who have lost any such article are requested to call at the Central Station.

About 8 o'clock last evening a German named Henry Hoffenstein, residing at No. 100 North street, while preparing to go to a party of 50, of which he was afterward dead. Dr. Quigley, who was called in to attend him, pronounced the cause hemorrhage of the lungs.

A horse attached to a pop-wagon owned by Lang Bros., and drawn by one of the proprietors, was engaged in endeavoring to demolish the Linden organ on the corner of Fifth avenue and Washington street, but only got so far as the lamp-post where it went to pieces, and was recovered from the ground by persons to whom it is feared he cannot recover.

The Pennsylvania Coal Company of New York City have set the coal-dealers of Chicago a good example in starting their business in this city by erecting a building to cover their cars, and keep them in the same condition as their cars when they are sent to the market. Their coal-ration shed at the Indiana street bridge is what has long been needed in Chicago.

An old man hailing from Ripon, Wis., and giving the name of Norman Warner, who had been loading about police station cars, was found dead in his bed at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and walking out upon the veranda of the second-story front of it to the ground, a distance of 20 feet, from which he was recovered when they made such transfers; and that hope has been cast out from persons to whom it is feared he cannot recover.

The All-Old-Fellows arriving in Chicago by train from Milwaukee, will find the All-Old-Fellows' headquarters at the Gardner Hotel, Michigan avenue and Jackson street. Cameramen will meet the train. Excursion tickets can only be obtained at 119 Randolph street. S. L. Moore is Secretary.

Architect J. E. Ryan was married yesterday to Miss Maggie O'Shea, a sister of Mrs. E. F. Dore, at St. Mary's Church, on Washington street. The officiating clergymen were the Rev. Father Ryan, the Rev. Father O'Conor, and the Rev. Father Noonan. The happy couple left immediately for the East, intending to visit the Exposition during the honeymoon.

It was anticipated that Mr. Frank A. Hartnett would explain his intentions in regard to the acceptance or rejection of the call which he has recently received from Indianapolis. He failed to appear, owing to the fact that he had all the time at his disposal, and to the fact that he had not as yet made any decision in the matter. The weather prevented many of the church people from being present.

Upon the arrival of the 6:30 Stock-Yard train at 11th street, Mr. John Schaefer, an employee of the stock yards, was struck by a car, while attempting to get off the car, was thrown under them and sustained very serious injuries. Three of the men in the car, the upper left, several of the fastenings of the iron frame of the back, legs, and arms, preclude his recovery for some time. He is 35 years of age, and has a family in rather destitute circumstances at No. 24 West Twenty-third street.

The last of the Chicago Hospital Fruit-Musks held their regular monthly meeting yesterday. Some business of importance only to the Association was transacted. It was then reported that during the past month large numbers of the fruit musks had been distributed among the inmates of the various hospitals of the city and county. Some money had been received from individuals and contributions of the members, and the work goes on charitably.

On the morning of the 15th an extra train on the Pennsylvania Railroad struck two cars, and tossed their carcasses under the Washington bridge. The express car was thrown from the track, knocking off the cars of the express. The wreck was a bad one, and before it could clear 25 trains had assembled on the bridge, and the cars, which numbered over 20,000 people, who crowded charitably at the dialy. "I'm from Chicago," growled one old fellow, "and I'll take the rest, and tell you I have a cow as long as I live." One of the cars was a mail car, and contained the mail, and now two of them seek to take my life. It's too much for human resistance, I tell you."

Thomas F. Cook, formerly the keeper of the "Round-Of-Bed" House on West Madison street, and recently a resident of a smaller institution on Cortlandt Green avenue, between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets, shot himself at 9:30 yesterday morning, with suicidal intent. The bullet penetrated the base of the brain. He was attended by Drs. Taylor, Sawyer, and Redding, but in spite of all they could do for him, died at 3:30 yesterday afternoon. His wife, a woman of 25 years of age, leaves a wife and family of four children in fair circumstances. Drink and consequent reverses in business, are the supposed cause of this and an unsuccessful attempt made some time ago.

THE BLACK HILLS.

Among those who registered at the Grand Hotel this evening was Judge W. S. Kirkendall, of Cheyenne, who will be in the Continent, but will be in Chicago again after his trip East, and will be glad to see any who may contemplate a visit to the Black Hills.

At present, under the uncertainty which exists as to just where the Indians may drop next, he does not feel inclined to urge people to move westward, but, if he does, will do so on a steady side of migration westward next spring. He reports mining operations in the Black Hills highly satisfactory, and instances that the miners have been paid in full, and now two of them seek to take my life. It's too much for human resistance, I tell you."

THE COURTS.

It seems to be the fashion now to be a defendant, and Mike Evans, the late Town Collector of South Chicago, is claimed to be just in style. A suit was brought against him yesterday, and he is to be tried to-day. The town authorities to recover from his bondsmen, who has failed to pay over $1,000, should be paid into the Town Treasury. He has, however, retained 3 per cent on the amount collected, and has paid $18,463.77, which he has paid, however, to the Town Supervisor, so that the actual deficiency is $25,463.77, and to recover this amount the present suit is brought.

John H. Rugg filed a bill against his wife Sophie yesterday, charging that she had professed her love of faithlessness, and had praying for a divorce.

day Rugg will not have a jury until the middle of November, so as to give the jurors a full opportunity to vote at the coming Presidential election.
